

Corpus Driven Quantitative Linguistics Workshop

27-28 November, 2019

Faculty of Arts, Reální 5, D104

Wednesday, 27 November, 14:00 - 18:00

14:00

Václav Cvrček

Calc - Statistical toolkit for corpus linguistics

14:30

Jiří Milička

Engrammer - On the borders between language and other cultural phenomena that can be quantitatively analyzed via corpus

15:00

Petr Pořízka

Prominent Words in Spoken Texts: Methods, Tools and Basic Units of Analysis

15:30

Łukasz Michał Grabowski

On Measuring Formulaic Language from a Corpus-Driven Perspective.
A Case Study Using Phrase Frames as a Unit of Analysis

16:00

Michal Místecký

Authorship Attribution in Medieval Texts - A Case Study of Pseudo-Peckham's Manuscript

16:30

Group Discussion

Thursday, 28 November, 9:30 - 13:00

9:30

Xinying Chen

Quantitative Syntactic Stylistics of Contemporary Written Czech

10:00

Jan Hůla & Miroslav Kubát

SeLe - Online Tool for Semantic Analysis of Czech Lemmas

10:30

Zuzana Černá

Corpus and Discourse

11:00

Kateřina Pelegrinová & Ján Mačutek

Some Properties of Prepositions from the Czech Corpus

11:30

Radek Čech, Michaela Nogolová, Kateřina Pelegrinová

From Text to Corpus. There and Back Again

12:00

Group Discussion

EUROPEAN UNION
European Structural and Investment Funds
Operational Programme Research,
Development and Education

UNIVERSITY OF OSTRAVA
FACULTY OF ARTS